

THE UNTRADITIONAL HONORS SENIORS

Valedictorians Mike Eversmeyer, Jim Skalnik and Tykie Tobin.

by Missy Hughes

The old and traditional will be "thrown out the window" at this year's Baccalaureate and graduation ceremonies. Baccalaureate will be held at 8:00 p.m. at Columbia Baptist Church on June 10, and commencement exercises for approximately 480 seniors will take place in the school stadium on June 14 at 8:00 p.m.

Graduation robes will not be required during the non-denominational Baccalaureate service; instead, girls are asked to wear solid, pastel-colored dresses, and boys, coats and ties. Everyone will enter the church as at a regular service, not as a procession, and the graduation class will sit as a group in the front of the church.

As people enter, the St. Luke Folk Group, who perform every year at the memorial of Robert F. Kennedy, will be singing a variety of songs—"Get Together" by the Youngbloods, "We've Only Just Begun" by the Carpenters, and "Peace-Aquarius" from the musical Hair. Music from "Jesus Christ Superstar," sung by Marshall's Madrigals, will open the service; then Rev. Benson Bartell from Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Vienna will deliver the invocation. Another selection from "Superstar" will be followed by a short speech delivered by Father John Lehner, an oblate from the Order of St. Francis de Sales. The benediction, given by Rev. David Smith of Epiphany Methodist Church in Vienna, will be preceded by another piece sung by the St. Luke Folk Group.

At graduation exercises, the procession music is planned to be changed to "March on Aida," and the seniors will file in and sit according to alphabetical order.

Continual background music will be supplied by the band and Madrigals when speeches are not being delivered. Clergy from Catholic and Lutheran churches will give the invocation and benediction.

Mr. Lawrence Oaks, Senior Class sponsor, is attempting to contact Senator Vance Hartke from Indiana to appear as the key speaker. If the Senator cannot attend, possibly one or two seniors will speak in his place. The audience will also be addressed by Bob Ellis, Senior Class President, and the three valedictorians, Mike Eversmeyer, Jim Skalnik, and Tykie Tobin.

A victory bell, the Senior Class gift, will be presented to Mr. John Broadus by the class officers. The senior awards will be presented at this time instead of at the Awards Assembly, and this will be followed by the announcement of the recipients of the George C. Marshall Award. A reception in the cafeteria will follow the ceremony with music provided by a band.

"The Old South" Will Set Mood For 1971-72 Junior-Senior Prom

by Missy Manley

Amidst the fountains, magnolias, and stately mansions of a Southern plantation, Principal John Broadus will crown the 1971 Prom Queen tomorrow night.

She will be presented with a nosegay of flowers, while her attendants will receive carnations. Members of the court include seniors Deedee Daly, Debbie Cloud, Nancy Izzo, and Sara Padgett, and juniors Janice Harris, Sharon Knapp, and Nancy Knight. One of the four senior girls will be crowned queen.

Chairmen Sharon Knapp and Nancy Knight stated that the juniors have "worked really hard to make this prom a memorable occasion for the seniors."

Music for the evening will be provided by Lucifer, a well-known band from Charlotte, North Carolina.

Chairing the other prom committees are Robin Walters—programs, Martha Negley—decorations, Mike Gotay—construction, Micki Kurelich and Sandy Compton—refreshments, Mary Ann Alford and Susan Clement—invitations, and Ralph Ward—lighting.

The 1971-72 Prom Court Debbie Cloud, Nancy Izzo, Deedee Daly, Sara Padgett, Janice Harris, Sharon Knapp and Nancy Knight.

Publications Select Knight, Fris As Editors

Juniors Nancy Knight and Steve Fris have been named as the Editors-in-Chief of Rank and File and Columbian.

More Students Involved

As Editor-in-Chief of Marshall's newspaper, Rank and File, Nancy will be aided by nine assistant editors. Under this new system there will be a rotating editorial staff with a different student planning each page every time the paper is published.

Because many qualified students will be present on next year's staff, this method will be employed to afford more students the opportunity to experience the editorial duties of laying-out pages and editing copy. The students involved are rising seniors Barb Brownell, Suzanne Chaudet, Sandy Compton, Sharon Knapp, Micki Kurelich, and Debbie Lanum, and rising juniors Donna Derr, Tom Goeller, and Mike Morina.

The Rank and File will continue its policy of publishing every three weeks as it did this year in order to present more current news to the student body.

Creativity Stressed

Steve will serve as Editor-in-Chief of Columbian for the upcoming year. Working under Steve will be seventeen staff members, including Assistant Editor Mark Broyles, 11.

New Editors Nancy Knight and Steve Fris.

New Class Officers Cathy Brock, Bob Updegrove and Mike Gotay.

Underclassmen Elect New Class Officers

Caught in the throes of the political process, underclassmen elected their new officers.

The Best Ever

"My main goal would be to make this sophomore class the best ever." So stated rising sophomore Cathy Brock, elected President of the Class of '74 by her fellow classmates. Cathy, who has "tried to keep active with the Freshman Class," lists among her future plans "things like having the most spirit and showing it," money-making projects and a successful Sweetheart dance.

Sue Compton will assume the position of Vice President. Sue, a Senator this year, cites involvement, recognition and "regularly scheduled class meetings" as her major objectives. Rising sophomore Paige Heishman will undertake new secretarial duties. Her intentions are "to try and bring the class together in order to get things accomplished, try to get everyone involved in school activities, initiate ideas that will help the class raise money, and keep accurate minutes of all meetings."

Desiring "to be involved and effective in school government," Mary O'Brien was elected Treasurer. Freshmen selected Mary Goehring and Kathy Mayer as their new Senators.

A "Rememberable" Year

Rising junior Bob Updegrove will perform presidential duties next year. Vicki Brock, elected Vice President of the Class of '73, will "work mainly with the president to help him carry out activities planned by the class." She emphasized "more activities which are better organized and publicized." She also hopes to make 1972 a "rememberable" year.

As Secretary-elect, Debbie Triplett will "devote time and work" to her new office. Jeannie Arbelaez and Gene Garcia, and Pat Perkins will assume positions as Senators and Treasurer, respectively.

Unity and Interest

The Class of '72 elected Mike Gotay president. Mike wants "to unite the class and make the people interested in new ideas and new ways of making money." As Vice President, Vince Arbelaez will be working with Mike "to make this class better than it already is."

Rising seniors selected Candy Cunningham, Secretary; Sharon Knapp, Treasurer; and Nancy Anderson and Kathy Dunlap, Senators.

Reflections of the past

Seniors Remember..

With four years of high school almost complete, Marshall seniors might want to take a quick look at some memorable occurrences that happened while we were here.

1967-68

- Freshman Orientation did not take all the bewilderment out of that first day of high school.
- as freshmen, we just missed the seven period study-lunch schedule effective the year before.
- such activities as the freshmen Homecoming float, class-sponsored soc-hops, and a Christmas charity drive helped to unite and establish the class.
- the Miss Marshall Pageant is established as is the drill team, and an SCA constitutional change creates the Inter-Club Council.

1968-69

- Marshall's first Homecoming win saw GCM whip the Oakton Cougars 47-7.
- students awoken to the need of political awareness as they vote in a mock presidential election.
- first Mr. Ugly dance staged by the Senior Class.
- both JV football and basketball teams finish undefeated.
- "Aphrodite's Garden"—the theme of our Sweetheart Dance.
- as the end of school approaches, the Dress Code is unofficially relaxed.

1969-70

- juniors wade through PSAT's, SAT's, Achievement Tests, and National Merits.
- the Homecoming victory over Herndon is enhanced by the Class of '71 winning the float competition with "Raid the Hornets."
- the Dress Code is officially abolished.
- a debate on Vietnam and the Moratorium is prepared and heard by Marshall students.
- the Varsity Basketball team finishes with its best record ever.
- DIG Week arrived with most everyone finding a course to enjoy.
- "What kind is yours?"—class rings arrive.
- students and faculty entertain each other on and off the courts as the Junior Class presents the first Donkey Basketball game held at Marshall.
- some juniors work long and hard to prepare a successful Prom—"The Age of Aquarius."
- most exams are abolished.

1970-71

- Senior Slump starts in September.
- Marshall recognizes eight outstanding students as Merit Semi-Finalists, later Finalists.
- football season is capped by a Homecoming triumph, but especially by earning the district and regional crown.
- the "It's Academic" team wins first place in first-round competition.
- DIG arrives again only to collapse from student disinterest.
- Marshall experiences her first demonstrations because of DIG—involved students don't care to listen to the administration.

Inês, Chris Say Farewell

No people are uninteresting.
Their fate is like the chronicle of planets.

Nothing in them is not particular,
and planet is dissimilar from planet.

And if a man lived in obscurity making his friends in that obscurity obscurity is not uninteresting.

To each his world is private,
and in that world one excellent minute.

And in that world one tragic minute.
These are private.

In any man who dies there dies with him his first snow and kiss and fight.
It goes with him.

They are left books and bridges and painted canvas and machinery.

Whose fate is to survive.
But what has gone is also not nothing;
by the rule of the game something has gone.
Not people die but worlds die in them.

Whom we knew as faulty, the earth's creatures.
Of whom, essentially, what did we know?

Brother of a brother? Friend of friends?
Lover of lover?

We who knew our fathers in everything, in nothing.

They perish. They cannot be brought back.
The secret worlds are not regenerated.

And every time again and again
I make my lament against departing.

—Yevgeny Yevtushenko

Please read it twice.
Thank you for one excellent minute.

August 10, 1970. The plane lands in New York City; here I was in a strange land of unknown people. What had brought me here? Maybe just curiosity.

Mansions, luxurious cars, businessmen, hippies, drugs, war, protest, advertisements... the stereotyped America. Then what is the real America? A giant emerging from its own shadow. Progress has reached a certain point that it starts to be scary. The young deny it; the old look at it as an easier life. But people are just people. Black or white, rich or poor, American, Brazilian, we're just people. We live, we fight, we love, and we die. Working together to build a better world; that's the message I leave for those who are reading this letter. Help build a better world tomorrow regardless of age, race, or citizenship. America's contribution can be very valuable. Don't let the shadow destroy you!

Remembrances (Continued)

- Keyettes and Tri-Hi-Y get together during "Teacher Appreciation Week."
- Miss Marshall Pageant is cancelled because of lack of student interest.
- due to last year's mass skipping, exams are reinstated.
- "relevancy" to be emphasized at final gathering of Class of '71—Graduation.

1971 Brings Changes to GCM

Everyone has noticed the changed atmosphere in Marshall over the past school year.

Has the atmosphere been constructive or destructive? It seems mainly destructive because it has caused the collapse of several programs here at Marshall, a more than usual lack of interest in clubs, and the invasion of a spirit of play or sleep rather than work. Marshall's atmosphere of "get better grades for doing less" has not affected all students, and there are also some good points to be mentioned.

It shows that students are becoming somewhat less school oriented, thus looking outside the school for more activities. It is really more a feeling of wanting to be out of school and enjoying yourself than anything else. But some students are involving themselves in worthwhile projects of social and ecological importance.

However, this type of constructive involvement has always attracted students in past years; it just seems that fewer people are caring to do it at present. So what can Marshall do? The leaders of the school must only compromise to this atmosphere, not adjust or give in to it. They will strive to interest students, and naturally, it is up to the students to respond.

Thespians Recognized In Drama 'Who's Who'

by Nancy Knight

Eighteen Thespians will be honored next fall when the publication of Who's Who in High School Dramatics in America is released.

Selected by Miss Irene Planinsek, dramatics director, are seniors Missy Manley, Stuart Harvey, Gary Calore, Jim Skalnik, Pat Francis, Donna Wallace, Bill Wagy, Debbie Scott, and Madeline Dunn. Among the juniors selected are Mercedes Acevedo, Jody Jaeger, Cherie Jones, Bob Arndt, Gary Walker, Jane Milne, and Stan Murphy. Two sophomores, Ralph Ward and Judy Craig, were also chosen for this honor.

The students were selected on a basis of their overall participation in the drama department. Performance on stage and on stage crews were of equal importance. The publication will include a complete resumé of the students' drama activities. A copy will be purchased for the school library.

Miss Planinsek feels that high school drama students have been neglected in the past. "It's about time they started paying a little more attention to these students. Each has worked very hard, and deserves some recognition."

Students Win Honors at Program; Departments Present Awards

The Awards Assembly, held on May 27, honored outstanding students in four areas: Departmental Awards, Faculty Awards, Activities Awards, and Recognition for Academic Achievement.

Honored for Departmental Awards are: Naomi McCarter, art; Deborah Jean Wiencek, business education; Corrine Marie Savage, English; Carol J. de Wilde, foreign language; Sharon Bowman, home economics; H. Daniel Payne, industrial arts; Roy Porter, mathematics; Randolph Bolce, choral music; Paul Olson, instrumental music; Dale Bernard, physical education (boys); Barbara Horn, physical education (girls); Theodore Hodges, science; Martin Buchanan, social studies; Arthur Alexander, auto body repair; Alan Cunningham, auto mechanics; and Pamela Bradley, cosmetology.

Receiving Faculty Awards are: Doug Naquin and Helene Maddux,

Outstanding Juniors; Mike Oliff and Karen Lybrand, Outstanding Sophomores; and Mark Olson and Theresa Mulloy, Outstanding Freshmen. The seniors will be honored at graduation exercises.

Receiving Special Awards are Gary Calore, Marilyn Harsch, Martin Buchanan, and Clinton Wolfe for Degrees of Honor in the National Forensic League. Receiving Drama Awards are Debbie Scott, William Bruce Little Memorial Award; Stuart Harvey, Best Thespian; Gary Calore, Best Actor; Donna Wallace, Best Actress; Jim Skalnik, Best Supporting Actor; Missy Manley, Best Supporting Actress; and Pat Francis, Best Stage Lighting.

Also recognized were Sharon Dunn, Future Nurses Scholarship; Martin Buchanan, National Mathematics Contest (school winner); and Jennie Clouser, Rensselaer Science

Madrigals Need Money for Trip

The George C. Marshall Madrigals still need four to five thousand dollars to pay for their two-week trip to Europe, beginning June 21.

"We'll have to count a lot on individual contributions from students and other interested parties," announced Mrs. Mary Gay Craig, choral director.

Mrs. Craig has already purchased the tickets with the money raised so far, which is approximately seven or eight thousand dollars.

"We have a limited time in which to raise the rest of the money. The only thing we have planned is a possible concert in Alexandria," remarked Mrs. Craig.

"We'll be asking for donations, and I certainly hope the student body will back us up. We'll be representing their school while we're overseas. Any spare change will help," she continued.

The Madrigals were recently chosen as the outstanding Madrigals from this area, and were invited to sing in the Fairfax County Centennial, May 16.

BROWNELL RECEIVES JOURNALISM AWARD

At the Potomac Respiratory Association's annual May conference, Junior Barb Brownell received the association's Green Pen Journalism Award for her article, "Pollution—Can it be Stopped?" which appeared in the February issue of the RANK & FILE. Awards were given on the basis of originality, research, and journalistic approach used in the articles concerning air pollution and other causes of respiratory illnesses. Each student journalist also received a framed certificate of appreciation for entering the writing competition.

Rank & File Suggests Ideas for the Summer

by Missy Manley

During the long hot summer the frequent question comes up of "Well, what shall we do now?" Indeed, what is one to do after the initial excitement of going to the local swimming pool, golf course, and tennis courts diminishes.

During the week, why not volunteer for work at a hospital, animal rescue shelter, or Head Start Center? There is a beautiful waterfall at the Burling Tract where one might spend a lazy afternoon. Afterwards why not go by The Parlor in Georgetown. This Victorian-looking ice-cream parlor has the best sundaes around, which can be eaten on a charming 19th century veranda.

One can ride a mule down the C&O Canal. Rentals are available in Georgetown where the canal starts for $1.50.

Four Juniors To Attend Mock Government Week

Early this month the College of William and Mary will be host to 560 junior boys who will be participating in Virginia's Boys' State. A similar program will be held for girls at Radford College.

Selected for outstanding qualities of leadership, patriotism, character, cooperativeness, honesty, scholarship, and physical fitness, the students will represent high schools from all over Virginia. Marshall will send four participants to the week-long program. These students are Jody Jaeger, Randy Clear, Michael Lee, Tom Weiss, and Mike Kuhn.

Through actual participation, the students learn the duties, privileges, responsibilities, and rights of an American citizen. Under the direction of experienced counselors, the participants organize and operate State, County, and City governments. During the week, political parties are formed, elections are held, and all functions of government are carried out.

A well planned recreational and entertainment program is also followed throughout the week. At the close of the week, graduation ceremonies are held and awards are presented.

The program is sponsored by the American Legion Department of Virginia.

New Cabinet Chosen By Murphy

The new 1971-72 S.C. Cabinet members have been chosen by next year's S.C. President, Stan Murphy.

Working as Publicity Chairman will be Bob German, 10. Bob will also be aiding Debbie Shepard, 10, in writing a Student Handbook to be given to the incoming freshmen. Sophomore Gene Garcia will be heading the Student Rights post and Louise Willas, 9, will be working with Student Relations.

Taking over the Welfare Committee will be junior Mike Kuhn.

Hawks and Doves Speak On War

With the student involvement in the peace demonstrations in Washington D.C. recently, Rank and File decided to find out the reactions of Marshall students. Two students with different views were interviewed by R&F.

This summer Don Farmer, 10, is planning on quitting school to join the army.

Don Farmer

His whole life has been in preparation for war. "I guess my main interests have always had to do with the army."

He's leaving school early to join, because he feels that school won't help him in the army. "They have enough officers with book learning. What it needs is enlisted men. Book learning won't win a war, fighting will!"

He'd volunteer to fight in Viet Nam, but doesn't think it is fair to be sent there. "Let me tell you one thing, though," he added, "If I'm gonna' get killed over there protecting America, I'm gonna' kill one helluva lot of V.C.'s first."

"I can really fight good," he said, "but I don't try to show off. I always let someone else start the fight first."

When he was younger, he loved to play army. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I still do like to. Whenever I get the chance I play army with my little brother."

He paused a little to think, chuckled, and then went on, "I love to throw dirt clods, and imagine them blowing up, like grenades."

He seems to have always enjoyed things that are gory. "The movies and books I like all have to do with guts and stuff."

"I guess they are what got me interested in war. It got killing in my blood. I know what is right and wrong, and it is right to kill in war," he continued.

Bob Ellis, 12, has been involved in peace movements and demonstrations since 1966.

Bob Ellis

chair, appearing completely relaxed and at ease.

"The government," he continued, "has been completely unresponsive, since recent polls show that ¾ of the U.S. population is against the war. That's why I've been involved in the peace movements. Once you get out on the street and actually see what the police are doing—you can see it isn't all the laws and little rules you learned in school. It really gets to you."

He wouldn't serve his country if he were to be drafted. "I've given it a lot of thought, and I've decided I'd apply for conscientious objector. If that didn't work, then I'd serve time in jail."

He would rather go to jail than leave for Canada, however. "I think the phrase 'America—Love it or Leave it' applies to us, too, and I certainly don't want to leave it. I think the United States is the best country, even though it is slipping in some of its policies, and I want to remain here."

"The reason I wouldn't serve is not to spite America. I'm doing it for America."

He feels that all killing is wrong. "I think it would be impossible for me to kill anyone, in any war. My feelings don't pertain only to the Viet Nam war."

"I've never even been in a fight. Sure I get mad enough, but I've never had the urge to hurt anyone."

FIVE STUDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS FOR OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS

Five Marshall seniors have recently been recognized by community clubs and national organizations for outstanding academic achievement.

Jim Skalnik, who plans to enter Yale University in the fall, won a $1,000 scholarship from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which awarded about 1,000 such scholarships throughout the nation. The winners were selected on the basis of demonstrated academic performance and high potential for future accomplishment.

Maureen Doallas received a $700 grant from the Vienna Women's Club. The award was determined by past academic performance, application, and interview. Maureen will enroll in Vassar College next September.

Fairfax Education Association has presented Karen Penley with a $500 scholarship based upon application. Karen hopes to become a teacher and plans to attend Longwood College.

The Fairfax Soroptimist Club has awarded honors to two Marshall students. Missy Hughes was presented the Soroptimist Citizenship Award and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond, placing second among 31 county applicants. Marianne Francis was selected as the outstanding girl in Marshall's home economics department and given a commemorative charm.

Rank & File would also like to congratulate those additional students who have been recognized for academic excellence but due to publishing deadlines could not be listed in this article.

Class Presidents Claim '71 As Disappointing

The 1970-71 school year has come to a close for the four class officers at Marshall: Bob Ellis, Senior Class; Leslie Perlik, Junior Class; Vickie Brock, Sophomore Class; and David Butler, Freshman Class. Each class president was asked to write a summary of what he feels that his class has accomplished this year.

Officers Evaluated

David Butler, president of the Class of '74 concentrated mainly on evaluating the officers. "This year the Freshman Class did win the Homecoming Float Competition, but that's about all they did. We had a few meetings but nobody came to them. One meeting had a fantastic attendance of three people, all of them officers. At all the meetings we got a few nice ideas but none of them came about. I don't know how the other officers feel they did this year. All I know is that I did a pretty bad job. Sue Compton and Mary O'Brien were the only officers that showed that they cared. I'm not saying that the others didn't care, it's just that they didn't show it like Sue and Mary and if they are elected next year, maybe the Class of '74 can get going."

Sophomore Class president Vickie Brock reviewed the past year's activities. "The Class of '73 started its sophomore year with enthusiasm and excitement. We went head-on into plans for a Homecoming Float. With a big turnout of students, we started construction. We finished with what we thought was an original, interesting float. We were really proud of our hard work. All during football season it was obvious the sophomores were the most spirited class. We were all happy to be from the Class of '73. Soph Spirit is No. 1!"

"Immediately after Homecoming, we started the beginning of many long, hard rewarding hours on our prize Sweetheart Dance; the goal of our sophomore year. We had great difficulty settling on a theme but Karen Lybrand, our chairman, finally set us straight with 'Let It Be...Love.' The theme called for the cafeteria covered with murals and posters dealing with love. The color scheme included assortments of reds, whites, and pinks. Topping it off with the fantastic sound of 'the Second Eagle' we completed the best Sweetheart Dance Marshall has ever seen. Once again we were proud to be sophomores.

"As sophomores we have had many problems, but conquered them with our spirit, determination and hard work. They say the sophomore year is the hardest but it has also been the best.

"We would like to thank all the students that have helped and worked to make 1970-71 a successful year for the sophomore class."

Disappointment Cited

The Junior Class president Leslie Perlik writes of her disappointment

in the class. "The year began looking as though the class held great potential. The amount of people who showed up to work on the float really astonished and pleased the chairmen and the officers you elected. After establishing ourselves as the 'Mighty Juniors!' and in the excitement of our Homecoming we then went on to win the illustrious spirit stick. But what happened after that? No one quite knows. It seems that each junior put the class second when this year should have been our most important. If it hadn't been for the hardworking efforts put forth by four or five students, the seniors wouldn't have had a prom this year. Due to the lack of participation in the money-raising events, the few people involved in the prom have had a difficult time in obtaining the needed materials.

"The biggest problem that the juniors face this year and have faced since we were freshmen has been the lack of involvement and enthusiasm. The attitude that the juniors have taken toward their class was seen by the donkey basketball game and by the amount of junior supporters in the junior-senior basketball game.

"These are but a few instances that have contributed in making this year and the Class of 1972 a very disappointing one."

A turn,
And we stand in the heart of things.

71'ers Look Ahead to Promising

Four years of work and play will climax at graduation on June 14. For the members of the Class of '71, one chapter in their lives is closing, while another even greater one is opening before them. Many seniors have chosen to continue their education in colleges and universities throughout the United States while others are ready for the business world and still others plan to take it easy and "bum around" for a few years. Whatever is in store for the 71'ers, R&F wishes a fond farewell and lots of luck. . .

Four New Varsity Sports

Girls Sports Program Expands

by Missy Hughes

Tennis, golf, volleyball, and track and field have recently been elevated to the varsity level in the girls' interscholastic athletics program as a result of action taken by the Fairfax County School Board.

The Board also approved a staff recommendation to recognize these teams as coeducational "provided there are no opportunities at the local school for individual boys' and/or girls' teams," according to the Supergram newsletter sent out by the Division Superintendent of Fairfax County Public Schools. The Supergram continued, "This approval is contingent on modification of Virginia High School League rules to permit participation by girls on such teams." Therefore, in order for any girl to qualify for these teams, the ruling must be changed, and the VHSL votes on the issue this month.

If the ruling is changed, will Marshall's sports be affected? The answer is probably no because this recommendation was drawn up mainly to serve smaller schools where the girls' athletic program is not as extensive as in Fairfax County. All these teams except golf already exist at Marshall, and will continue to exist or will be created provided that teachers continue to be as willing to volunteer to coach as they have in the past.

When commenting upon girls' participation in these sports, Mrs. Marjorie Knutson, Assistant Supervisor of Health and Physical Education for Fairfax County, remarked that the aim and hope of the girls' athletic program is to have a set-up where the needs of all the girls' participating are met, and that those highly skilled can find good competition within the county's girls' teams.

Mrs. Knutson continued on a positive note, "The girls' program has expanded to where there is now a fine system of interscholastic teams." She feels that Fairfax County is ahead of many counties in the state in their girls' athletic programs, but stressed that this department will continue to expand.

Dolf's Dozen

by Dave Mobley

Since this is the final installment of Dolf, he would like to take this opportunity to thank:

Mr. McCarthy—For being a very liberal supporter of capital punishment, by publishing the most horrid articles known to man.

Duane Hampton—For giving me a chance (which is on a par with giving a prisoner a last cigarette before a firing squad).

Corinne Savage—For being the only sports editor in the world who would make Shirley Povich, Morrie Siegel, and Jack Mann look forward to article deadlines.

John Mitchell, J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI—For giving me great publicity when they announced that they thought Dolf's Dozen were a group of leftist radicals.

Alan Decot and a cast of thousands—"Those are terrible!"

My Mother—"You're writing what?!"

My best friends—Who put up with the worst puns and jokes with the worst torture since Lloyd Bucher was interrogated by the North Koreans.

Dolf: The First 12 are always the hardest.

REVEILLE ADDS NEW MEMBERS

by Barb Brownell

Eight new members have been added to the 1971-1972 Reveille staff. The new members are Kristie Oberg(11), Cinda Haggren(11), Luann Origer(11), Jim Schepmoes(11), John Sumner(11), Luann Tissele(10), Anne Williams(10), and Sue Zavolta(11).

Juniors Mary Kearney and Phil Dexter are present members and will be returning next year to work with the new staff. Those accepted were required to fill out an application. They were then screened and chosen according to ability and wish to give their time and effort to the staff. New editors have not yet been chosen.

Volunteer Your Summer Time

For students who are unable to find a summer job or who want to participate in community affairs, Northern Virginia holds a number of possible volunteer programs.

The Cooperative Extension Service of the V.F.I. Extension Division is conducting two different programs this summer. The first involves students trying to develop the interests and skills of children from low income families. In the second program, groups will conduct studies of their community's problems, and try to formulate some workable solutions. More information on the above programs can be received by calling Page Godsey at 691-2813.

The Department of Instructional Services is looking for volunteers to work in its Summer Head Start Program. Volunteer assistants work with pre-school children from low-income families to help prepare them for future schooling.

The Department of Instructional Services is also in need of participants for its Youth Volunteer Program. The available jobs vary from guidance in arts and crafts to assistance at a day care center. Most of the programs begin the third week in June and end in early August. For more information call Mrs. Skalnitz at 573-4267.

Fairfax County is conducting a Youth Employment Program to help students find a summer job. It serves as sort of a clearing house for students and employers. The Area III number to call for further information is 938-6401, ext. 64.

Finally, the Potomac Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association is sponsoring a Community Concern Program. Students will learn a voluntary health organization's approach to community resources, office procedures, and Northern Virginia's health and environment problems.

All of the above programs are ways to get experience for next summer's paying job, and to find out where one's interests lie.

1971-72 Freshmen Cheerleaders Chosen

After one rather confusing week of cheerleading clinics and an exciting try-out, next year's Freshman Cheerleading squad was chosen.

The eight member squad includes Becki Cecil, Leigh Dance, Janet Kinder, Maureen Manley, Debbie Minan, Suzanne Renfro, Robin Savage, and Cathy Waller.

The girls were selected according to their performance on a cheer, a chant, splits, a cartwheel, and a jump.

This was the first year that the freshman cheerleading squad was selected before they actually entered Marshall. This was done in hopes that the squad can better prepare themselves for next year's football season.

The Senior Class officers have extended a personal invitation to Mrs. George C. Marshall to attend the graduation ceremonies, but the request has not yet been answered. As part of the traditional end of the year activities, the class officers, together with Mr. Oaks and possibly Mr. Broadbudd, will also visit Arlington Cemetery to place a wreath on the grave of Gen. George C. Marshall.

Marshall's Number One Chaperone Talks About His World Travels

Describing himself as an "oeno-ophile, gourmet, and antique collector," Mr. Lawrence Oaks, who teaches geography and government in his spare time, has also become Marshall's number one student chaperone.

Accompanying the Spanish club on their Puerto Rican jaunt in early April, he returned with the attitude, "These kids are really great...and cooperative." Responding to some of the Spanish clubbers' comments on his leniency, Mr. Oaks stated, "I feel that each person should be given a certain amount of responsibility and the opportunity to become aware of himself. Although this trip was a chance for a lot of them to prove their maturity, we were not so free with our rules that we set no limits. Before taking the trip, parents and students discussed the amount of responsibility to be shouldered. Everyone decided on a set of rules and followed them pretty closely the whole time."

As if the Puerto Rican trip weren't enough, Mr. and Mrs. Oaks, under the sponsorship of the American Institution of Foreign Studies, will go to Europe this summer, with 15 area students in tow. "The tours of Rome, Paris, and Spain will be educational in themselves, but the real purpose of the trip is to spend a summer of study at Cambridge University in England. I won't be there only as a chaperone, to steer them to the right classes and make sure that they get on to the right bus. I'll be more like a counselor to help them decide on their summer subjects and help them adjust to campus life."

As a traveler, Mr. Oaks is an old pro. "I saw America first!" he says, "and during my college summers I'd just take a pack and hike in the mountains out West. The beauty and freedom out there is overwhelming. After America came Europe, where Mrs. Oaks and I rented a car and traveled 4,700 miles throughout Spain, France, Germany, and Portugal. Of course, we saw the sights in larger cities, but our most interesting experiences were with the people in the small, backward European towns.

"I'm looking forward to another trip to Europe this summer and I hope we can show the AIFS students all sides of Europe. These kids are full of enthusiasm and I want them to get all the advantages of this trip."

Mr. Oaks discusses his adventures, traveling abroad.

Marshall Enjoys Best Year Ever

The 1970-71 year will go down in the books as the greatest year for Marshall sports in its nine year history.

The highlights of the year were the District and Regional championships in football. Although the grid-ers took the District title, several other Varsity teams finished in second place. Finishing runner-up were the basketball, cross country, tennis, and track and field teams. All of these teams had all or part of their squads competing in post-season competition. No Marshall team finished in last place.

Football

It will certainly be hard for the Statesmen to improve in this area, after winning the Regional championship. After a tough loss to Falls Church in their first game, Marshall won ten games in a row. These included clinching the Great Falls District crown with a satisfying victory over Madison in the last game of the season, and the Northern Regional Championship game, in which Marshall whipped Edison, 26-2. Next year there will be a State tournament, with semifinals and the finals, an event in which the Statesmen and Coach Ed Henry hope to participate.

Standouts this year include senior All-Metropolitan halfback Dinky Jones, senior All-Regional offensive and defensive lineman Dan Little, and sophomore Mike Oliff.

With the JV and Freshman teams also taking first place this year, Marshall can expect to see another excellent football squad next year.

Cross Country

The cross country team showed great improvement this year and potential for next year. Finishing second in a tough District, the harriers took fourth place in the Regional meet and fourteenth in the State meet.

According to Coach John Schlogl, the loss of senior Jamie Acevedo and senior running star Bob Leake will leave a big hole to fill, but stated Coach Schlogl, "We'll have back Dave Cannon, George Clay, Ken Hosford, James Coady, and Kit Lewis to build around." He predicted next year's team would be "better balanced" and would have "more depth."

Basketball

It was another "almost" season for Coach Bob Smith and his players, with both the Varsity and JV teams coming in second.

The Varsity won only one of their first eight ball games but eight of their last ten to post a 9-9 seasonal record. In the District tournament, held at Marshall, the Statesmen advanced to the finals with McLean, but the Highlanders won, 70-66. Due to their second place finish, the Statesmen went on to the Regional tournament, where they lost to Woodson, 63-53.

Reviewing the year, Coach Smith said that the post-season football hurt his team, because the players had less time to prepare for basketball. He also stated that next year's team would be badly hurt by the loss of senior starters Dinky, Outstanding Athletes: Steve Draper, Mark Ruben, Mike Oliff, Chuck Smerdzinski, Doug Naquin, Al Decot, Dinky and Charlie Jones.

Charlie, and Bob Jones and Tom Cavanaugh. Consequently, next year's line-up will be inexperienced and is "completely up in the air," according to Coach Smith.

Wrestling

The Varsity grapplers finished what was described by Coach Everett Cloud as a "disappointing" season, with a 4-5-2 record. The team will be hurt by the loss of seniors Mark Rubin and Dan Little. The Statesmen will have more experience in the lower weight classes, and will have standouts Jim Murray and Doug Naquin returning.

Varsity Ends 11-9 JV Captures First

The GCM Varsity baseball team ended its long season by splitting a double-header, beating Herndon 2-0 and losing to Jefferson, 5-0.

In the Herndon game, junior right-hander Ray Smith climaxed a fine season by hurling his first no-hitter of the season. Smith allowed only three Hornets to reach base, all on walks. The victory gave Marshall an 8-7 District slate, and put them into third place behind Madison and Oakton.

The Statesmen were not as successful against Jefferson, a team tied with Madison for top ranking in the region. The Colonials started their ace, Sam Rodenhizer, for four innings, and finished with Matt Waller. In the tune-up for the regional playoffs, they limited the Statesmen to two hits. Marshall's Scott Schwemey, 11, pitched four scoreless innings, but Jefferson got all the runs needed on a two run single by Rodenhizer.

The team's leading pitcher was Smith, with a 7-4 record. Al Boudreau, junior outfielder, was the team's leading hitter. Lost through graduation are: Blaine Brady, first baseman; outfielders Bruce Dagley, Howard Branscome, and Bob Jones; and infielders Chuck Smerdzinski and Karl Mohay.

J.V. Takes First Place

After splitting their first six games, Marshall's Junior Varsity ran up an eight game winning streak. A loss to Herndon in the final contest brought the team record to 11-4. Freshman left-hander Matt Mohay recorded eight victories including two over Madison, against a single loss. Kevin Fuller, 9, ended with a 2-1 record, and Craig Burlingame, 9, also had a strong season. Outfielder Mike Holmberg led the team in hits and batting average. First baseman Larry Caynor, 9, provided most of the power, leading the team in home runs and runs batted in.

Series of Successful Seasons Brings Girls' Sports to Close

by Nancy Knight

A year of hard work, determination, and strong athletic records sums up this year's girls' sports program.

Boosters Raise Funds For Athletes

by Corinne Savage

Much of the credit for the success of Marshall's athletic program this past year is due to the efforts of the GCM Booster Club.

The Boosters, an organization of interested parents, worked as ticket-takers and concession operators to raise funds for the Athletic Department. Under the leadership of their President, Mr. Jim Haney, Vice President, Mr. Dave Clark, Secretary, Mrs. Lin McDaniel, and Treasurer, Mrs. Dave Clark, the Boosters were able to raise enough money to purchase "Cloud 9," used in the pole vault and high jump events in track. They also contributed towards the "universal gym," bought four new banners for the gym, striped jackets for the football chain crew, the meals for all boys representing Marshall in district, regional, and state tournaments, and water coolers for the girls' teams.

The Boosters would like to encourage as many interested parents as possible to join up for the coming year. It is not necessary to have a son or daughter in the athletic program at Marshall to become a member. The Boosters meet four times a year; membership is $5.00 per family.

TENNIS

Though the overall record of the girls' tennis team was 1-3, "tremendous individual efforts" were displayed by the team's top three players. Senior Missy Hughes and junior Wendy Lippincott finished with 3-1 records, while senior Barb Bass claimed two victories and one loss.

BASKETBALL

A result of good team effort and spirit, the Varsity basketball team closed its season with a strong 8-4 record. Illness among team members and tough district competition prevented the team from capturing the district title, but the girls never lost enthusiasm. The Junior Varsity girls finished with seven wins and five losses.

GYMNASTICS

GCM's gymnasts enjoyed the glory of a successful season. At the Washington and Lee Invitational, senior Tykie Tobin placed second in the Intermediate Advanced Tumbling event, and third in the Floor Exercise. Seven members competed at Regionals, where freshman Chris Napier took the third place medal for beginning vaulting.

Bob Jones and "Dinky Jones" honored.

Nancy Vincent.

HOCKEY

Completing their season with only two losses, the Girls' Hockey Team used past experience and skill to their advantage. Co-captains Nancy Vincent and Barbara Horn were great assets to the team.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

The Seniors defeated the Juniors in a seasawed competition, which displayed several unprofessional plays. With only two minutes remaining, senior Judy Carlton scored a touchdown, which cost the junior girls the game.

Tennis, Track Teams Take 2nd In District

Marshall's tennis, track, and golf teams recently completed their respective seasons. The tennis team finished with an 8-2 record and second place in the district; the trackmen finished with a 3-2 record and took second place in the district meet, and the golf team finished with an 2-8 record.

The tennis team was led by Steve Draper, who was the #1 man in the district with a 10-0 singles and 9-1 doubles record and a first place finish in the district tournament. Draper lost a close match to Pete Ranney of Fort Hunt in the regional tournament. Senior Don Spiece had a 9-1 record while juniors Steve Heilborn and Mike Liotta finished 8-2 and 8-1 respectively. Bruce Dingleberry finished with a 7-2 record and Heilborn was undefeated in doubles matches with a 10-0 record.

Marshall's track team finished with its best season in years. The Statesmen defeated Madison, Herndon, and McLean while dropping meets to Oakton and Langley to finish with a 3-2 record in dual meets. Marshall also finished second in the district meet. Sophomore Mike Oliff and seniors Alan Decot and Bob Leake represented Marshall in the state meet. Decot finished fifth in the high jump, Leake sixth in the mile and Oliff 10th in the pole vault. There were four school records set this year by members of the Marshall track team. Decot set a record in the high jump, Leake in the 880, Oliff in the pole vault, and Vernon Kelley in the long and triple jumps.

The golf team finished the season with a disappointing 2-8 record. Marshall's two victories both came over McLean. Senior Nick Nikas has brightened the season somewhat by qualifying for the state tournament, to be held May 27-28, in Richmond.

Spring Athletes Honored

The Spring Sports Assembly was held yesterday evening to honor the athletes participating in boys' and girls' sports.

Together with letters and certificates for participation, Most Valuable Player Awards were made by Mr. John Broadbuss, principal.

The Boys' Awards were: Al Boudreau and Ray Smith, baseball; Bob Leake and Alan Decot, track; Steve Draper, tennis; and Nick Nikas, golf. Chosen as outstanding athletes for the year were Bob Jones and Eldridge "Dinky" Jones.

The Girls' Awards included: Linda Hudson, hockey offense; Nancy Vincent, hockey defense; Jo Ann Blum, basketball defense; Lynn Treichler, basketball offense; and Linda Bordt and Nancy Vincent, softball. Chosen as the outstanding female athlete by the coaches was Nancy Vincent.
